Self Study Webcast
Sep 30

Overview:

The Sarbanes-Oxley Act may be the most important legislation affecting public companies and their auditors since the SEC was created. An expert explains each section of the law and how it affects you now and in the future. You'll thoroughly cover:

- Section 404 compliance— effective internal accounting controls
- The latest guidance from the SEC and PCAOB
- Specific steps your public company must take to meet the spirit and requirements of the Act

Objective:

To provide accountants in public companies with a thorough understanding of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the rules and regulations it generated. You'll understand what actions governing and regulatory bodies are taking to ensure compliance. You'll analyze how these rules and regulations change what you need to do. And you'll gain detailed knowledge about internal accounting control and certification requirements under Sections 302 and 906.
